Teachers Appeal To Conciliation Board On Salary Question

Editor's Note: In order that the ratepayers could have a fair idea on what the school salary schedule negotiations were all about it published a story recently from the school board. An invitation was extended to the salary schedule committee to state its side. The following story was then submitted by the committee:

In view of the increasing costs

Bellevue, Drumheller and Wetaskiwin should be considered in the same class as Coleman as regards town and ratepayers. Mirror, Camrose and Coronation are smaller districts than Coleman, while Medicine Hat is larger.

A comparison of the present Coleman salary situation with that existing in comparable school districts shows the Coleman schedule is one of the lowest in the province. The following will serve as a basis of comparison.

Find Watch of Dead Flyer

Harry Boulton has in his possession the burnt remains of a wrist watch, which had been the property of R. H. Watt, R101518, RCAF. The latter was one of the victims of the Dakota transport plane which crashed into a mountain peak near Coleman last January in which seven were fatally injured.

The watch was discovered by Nick Kobewka, of Coleman, on May 24, and he gave it to Mr. Boulton. The latter will now forward it to the proper authorities who will probably forward it to the parents.

The watch hands had melted and there is a blacked-out spot between the 1 and 3 figures, leading one to believe that the accident happened at 3:05 a.m. The watch appears to have been under terrific heat as the strap and the metal connections to the watch itself are gone and it was with the greatest difficulty that the serial number could be read and it is doubtful if the last two figures are correct.

Both men have been employees of the McRobert Co. store at Pincher Creek but decided to go into business for themselves when the store was sold to the Pincher Creek Co-operative. They will employ the same staff as that employed by Messrs. Gate and Sherratt.

The immediate plans of Messrs. Gate and Sherratt are not known.

Varsity Players Staged 3 Plays Here Monday

Good Attendance; Acting Was of A Very High Calibre.

(Jim Allan Jr.)

On Monday evening The University Players visited Coleman to stage three plays in the Community hall. They were greeted with a fair and very attentive audience who showed keen enjoyment at the clever acting of the casts in the various plays.

The stage settings of all three plays were excellent. Balance was good while the various colors were particularly effective in establishing the mood of the plays. The space setting of "Raisin' The Devil" arranged to give depth to the stage in addition to the minimum of lighting required by the play aroused keen interest in the audience.

Make-up was good, often requiring some quick changes on the part of the artists, due to their appearance in more than one cast.

Very appropriate selections of music preceded each play during the intermissions. This was achieved by use of the public address system.

The first play staged was titled "The Boor." A brilliant comedy by the noted Russian author Anton Chekhov. The cast handled this difficult Russian accent admirably. The Russian accent affected by the players was in general very accurate and distinct, although Laurie Levine playing the part of "Grebros Siminov" dropped the accent occasionally during the more rapid moving parts of the play. Mr. Levine started at a slightly too rapid pace and at too high a pitch to carry himself higher towards the climax of the play. The gestures and body movements of all performers in this play were excellent, although sometimes they were obscured by the actors being too frequently up-stage and behind a settee.

"To Meet The Chinooks" written by Alan Fraser, of Calgary, is a refreshing comedy of the early pioneer days when Calgary was the cow-town of the west. The performance carried merrily along, keeping the audience in a constant mood of merriment. Stan Swaren and Lois McLean as Lord and Lady Satteringham gave a very convincing performance of the "right sort" English upper class. Alta Mitchell as Dolly Blaine was excellent in her portrayal of the "Frontier Girl."

Stage balance during this play might have been maintained to better advantage.

YOUR CO-OPERATION, PLEASE

Councillor Fred Cox asks the co-operation of persons who are beautifying graves at the local cemeteries.

Some have been guilty of the practice of scattering weeds and grass all over the lot. Both Councillor Cox and the caretaker desire that weeds and grass be placed in a pile and the latter will burn it at his convenience.

It is not too much to ask and the public's co-operation is sought in this respect.

High School Held Very Successful Concert

Run Two Nights; Attendance Good Both Evenings.

(Jim Allan Jr.)

Coleman High school's annual closing concert, held in the Community hall on June 5 and 6, was well attended both evenings. The students gave a fine performance with the help of Miss A. Mercier, Mr. J. Cousins, Principal D. Hoyle and Mr. S. Ondrus.

The two pieces, "Waltz Song" and "It's a Grand Night For Singing" sung by Frances Diblee were enjoyed by all as were "Friend of Mine" and "I Love You Truly" by Carl Johnson. A vocal duet "Braid the Raven Hair" by Shirley Hull and Millie Bubniak was well received.

Such well known pieces as "The Rendez-vous" "Solente" "Bell Song" were sung either by individuals or groups of artists.

Mr. Cousins is to be commended for his fine work on such difficult selections as "In A Monastery Garden" "The Bolero" and "For He Is An Englishman." To the choir, under his direction, is owed much for the audience's pleasure. The Misses Betty Hilary and Isabel Ewing as accompanists for all artists did well.

The one act play, along with the skit, both under the direction of Mr. Ondrus, afforded amusement for everyone with each artist giving a sterling performance.

Principal Hoyle gave an excellent view of folk dancing from Sweden, Finland and Hungary. This year he had an innovation, "Old and New" which contrasted dancing of one hundred years ago with that of the present day. The Jitterbug versus the reserve and sedateness of the past century.

Southern Trans-Canada Highway Association Urges Improvement Of No. 3 Highway, Pincher To Border

Road Described as Cancerous Sore in Network of Southern Alberta Highways.

The secretary's office of the Southern Trans-Canada Highway Association has made another appeal to the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, W. A. Fal-low, to give consideration for immediate improvement to Number 3 Southern Trans-Canada Highway from Pincher Station to the BC border.

The Association's letter points out that this link of highway helps provide direct access from Waterton National Park to national parks in British Columbia, the scenery through the Pass being one of scenic grandeur which could become a strong tourist attraction.

Mention was made of the fact that the road provides the only year round outlet in the province leading from Alberta into BC and the western States. It also was mentioned that it carries a heavy volume of traffic to and from Alberta and that it was carrying an ever increasing volume of tourist traffic.

A reply has been received from Deputy Minister G. H. N. Monkman, who due to the Minister's absence from the city, answered the Association's letter.

It reads:

Edmonton, June 7, 1946.

Dear Sir:
Referring to your letter of June 4, addressed to the Minister of Public Works, in connection with the highways in the South Western part of Alberta.

The Honourable the Minister is absent from the city, at the present time, and as I am fairly well acquainted with the proposed highway program for this year, I thought I would take the liberty of answering your letter.

It was the intention of the Department to do considerable work in the South Western part of Alberta this year, but on account of the scarcity of equipment and engineering staff, early work on this portion had to be postponed, but it is hoped that before the season has ended, some of the work, which you suggest, can be started. The program of the Government, in connection with main highways in the Province, during the next few years, is very extensive, and includes the highways in South Western Alberta.

Yours very truly,

G. H. N. Monkman,
Deputy Minister.

Elks Carnival To Be Held June 29, July 1

Carnival Chairman George Jenkins Promises Improved Merchandise; Major Prizes Are $50 Bonds Each Evening.

Coleman Elks are staging their annual carnival on Saturday and Monday, June 29 and July 1, proceeds from which will be placed in their building fund.

Carnival chairman is George Jenkins who already has been busy on the job securing merchandise for the various booths. He has secured his publicity committee that the prizes this year will be of a much higher standard than in past years. He is particularly pleased with his blanket, dolls and lamp booths and is still on the prowl for new prize material.

One prize in particular that he has come up with and which earns for him the plaudits of his male patrons is the "Bingo On The Hour" prize. Starting at 9 p.m. and continuing each hour till 11 p.m. the bingo prize will be a gent's leather dressing set valued at $25. There will be three of these prizes given away each evening on the hour, every hour. It contains brushes, soap case, tooth brush case, etc., and has the zipper lock.

Due to a clamping down on major carnival prizes the Attorney-general's department has decreed that only a maximum $50 prize can be drawn each evening. As a result two $50 bonds will be drawn, one each evening on the stroke of midnight. Tickets will be good for both draws.

VANDALISM AT SPORTS FIELD

Vandalism is running rampant at the local sports field these nights.

On Tuesday evening some youth or youths dumped a barrel of tar on the ground and then took out the plug and allowed the tar to run out. The loss is estimated at $60 by the Stampede Committee who had purchased the tar.

Previously some youths had shot bullet holes into the barrel. Luckily the holes were above the tar and with the exception of damaging the barrel no tar loss had been sustained.

Should the guilty parties ever be apprehended an example will be made of them.

A Loss To The Nation

CONSIDERABLE CONCERN has been expressed here recently over the large numbers of men and women with professional training who are leaving Canada to live permanently in the United States. It is acknowledged that the greater wealth and wider opportunities which are offered by the large and highly industrialized nation to the south of us have already attracted a number of Canadians each year, but these numbers have increased greatly since the war, and have now reached an extent which is regarded by some observers as alarming. The situation has caused the question to be raised here as to why so many of our citizens must seek opportunities in the United States, and as to what effect the exodus of large numbers of engineers, scientists and others trained in our schools and colleges may have upon the future of this country.

Is Essential To Security

The present exodus appears to be largely of those who have scientific training, and this may be explained in part by the fact that both the staff and students of American universities were seriously depleted by the compulsory military service regulations during the war. As a result, the number of graduates during the war years was greatly reduced, and this has left the United States with an acute shortage of technically trained personnel to meet the urgent demands of post-war development. The fact remains, however, that those who go from Canada to take up work in the United States, will devote their training and ability to their work there, and their services are lost as far as their own country is concerned. The war has shown the importance of scientific and technical knowledge in the age in which we live, and it is apparent that under present conditions, scientific progress is essential to a nation's security, as well as to its industrial expansion. Under these circumstances, it is understandable that there is concern over the flow of trained Canadian scientists to another country.

One Solution To Problem

Talented Canadians who are attracted to the United States are not only those with scientific and technical training. In music, education, the theatre and many other branches of learning, people of Canadian birth have achieved outstanding success in the United States. It is a matter of regret to many Canadians who are interested in music, the theatre and other forms of art that some of the best talent developed in this country has eventually been attracted by the greater opportunities in their work in the United States. Obviously the only solution to the entire problem is to develop facilities here for using the abilities of the men and women who are trained in this country. Dean C. J. Mackenzie, president of the National Research Council, has urged a national research budget equal to that provided during the war, and in addition, that it be gradually increased until it reaches between forty and fifty million dollars a year. This would not only provide many openings for young scientists but it would further Canada greatly among other nations in the field of science. This, and similar measures, are the solution to the problem as it exists today.

National Parks

Plans For A Five-Year Extension
Plan Is Outlined

Broad plans for a five-year extension program for Canada's national parks were outlined to the Senate Tourist Committee by R. A. Gibson, Director of the Lands, Parks and Forests Branch of the Resources Department.

He sketched briefly a scheme which would include a national zoological park, improved facilities in existing parks and creation of new park areas. Senator T. A. Greer (L.-Manitoba), former Resources Minister, said there was need for consistent planning in the development of the parks system.

Dr. H. F. Lewis, superintendent of wild life protection, was questioned about the possibilities of a national zoological garden. He said there was need for such a development in Canada. While no site had been definitely recommended, the practice in many countries was to establish the garden near the National Capital.

James Smart, controller of the National Parks bureau reporting on a recent survey trip, said the major problem expected this year was to provide accommodation for all the tourists who were expected. R. J. C. Stead, publicity director for the branch, urged a long term publicity program which would both attract tourists and inform Canadians about the value of their own parks—Ottawa Journal.

WORKS BOTH WAYS

In a Havana office building, a sign over the elevator reads: "Since there is a stairway in the building the management is not responsible for damages incurred while using the elevator." A sign over the stairway reads: "Since there is an elevator in the building for tenants and persons with legitimate business over the second floor, the management is not responsible for damages incurred while using the stairs."

HERE TO STAY

Suggestions that the horse will become obsolete are foolish, Grant MacEwan, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Saskatchewan told the Canadian breed club members of the province. Prof. MacEwan said the horse would continue to be useful in agriculture in spite of mechanization.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Will any coupons expire in the month of June?
A.—Butter coupons R1 to R9 inclusive and meat coupons M29 to M39 inclusive will be declared invalid as of June 30.

Q.—Will we be receiving another ration book?
A.—Ration book six will be distributed to consumers the week beginning September 9.

Q.—I recently purchased a summer dress and now find that the material is very poor quality and is also coming apart at the seams. Whom should I report this to?
A.—You should always make sure that you place in safe keeping the tag which was attached to the article purchased. This tag would state the size, price and give the Wartime Prices and Trade Board license number of the manufacturer's license number. I would suggest that you return your summer dress along with the label to the store from where it was purchased. If you are not satisfied with the store's findings, forward the dress and label to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office and the Standards Division will investigate for you.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumer News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Answer To Last Week's Puzzle

TASK WILL BE HARD

Racial Tangle Will Complicate Malcolm MacDonald's Job In Malaya

When Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, as Governor-General, settles down to married life in Malaya he will find a vast change in his surroundings from what he was accustomed to in Ottawa. He will be in a tropical country with relatively few white people and four and a quarter millions of Malays, Chinese and Indians. He has to try to make a Malayan Union of them.

The whole of Malaya is only about the size of England and Wales. In the Straits Settlements which include Singapore, there are twice as many Chinese as Malays; in the Malay states under the Sultans the Malays are in the majority; and in the so-called unfederated states the Chinese again lead.

This is a racial tangle that acutely complicates political affairs. And there is a further headache in that the different races are in different stages of development. The Malays are still largely a primitive people of the forests and rivers. The Indians are shopkeepers and commercial employees. And the Chinese include numbers of educated merchants and manufacturers, particularly in Singapore.

Europeans are now returning from exile or from Japanese imprisonment to take up their pre-war jobs throughout the country which is still under military government. Production and business are slowly recovering from the shock of the war. The troops are leaving and soon except for a garrison will all have gone. "Up country," as it is called, the two main Malayan sources of wealth, tin and rubber, are by no means as badly damaged by the war as was at first reported. But labor is hard to get, the rubber plantations have been partly neglected, and transportation including railway services and shipping is far from what it used to be.

Meanwhile, the Sultans remain dissatisfied with the proposals to incorporate them into a Malayan Union and presumably one of Mr. MacDonald's first tasks will be to bring them to a more reasonable state of mind.—Ottawa Citizen.

Farm For Veterans

Is Located 45 Miles North Of Swift Current

Nineteen men operating the only Co-operative farm for veterans in Canada have broken 400 acres of rich clay soil and moved nine barrack blocks from a former Royal Canadian Air Force airport to their site in the Matador branch area 45 miles north of Swift Current, Sask.

The goal this year on the 16 sections of provincially-owned land is to sow 400 to 500 acres of flax. Ploughing is going ahead on a 24-hour basis and by summer's end the co-operators hope to have 2,500 acres broken.

The veterans also have been engaged in tearing down barracks at St. Aldwyn's airport, about eight miles north of Swift Current, moving the section to their farm.

Hog bristles were used as springs in watches of early times.

"Fire? Goodness, no! Since I've been serving Grape-Nuts Flakes for breakfast, my husband decided the stairs were too slow."

"Would you believe it, I've found that same thing everywhere I've called this morning — people rushing downstairs to taste that nutty-rich, nut-sweet flavor of Post's Grape-Nuts Flakes."

"And you should see my family tear into the days activities on that good nourishment Grape-Nuts Flakes give them: carbohydrates for energy, proteins for muscle; phosphorus for teeth and bones; iron for the blood; and other food essentials."

"Um... may I step in for a bowlful?"

"Certainly—and I want you to try the simply grand muffins I've just finished making from one of the recipes on the Grape-Nuts Flakes package!"

Care Of Poultry

Basic Principles For Making A Success Of This Industry

The poultry industry in Canada has become big business. It is made up, however, of a multitude of small businesses. It is in the continued success or non-success of these individual businesses that the story of the future will be written, says the Egg and Poultry Market Report, Dominion Department of Agriculture. It is only by the closest attention to the rules of good management that these individual businesses can hope to succeed. The fullest possible utilization of the product of nature is a basic principle in economics and good management.

In poultry management, there are some things often overlooked, such as grass, earthworms, water, air, light, earth and exercise. Grass is the most readily available source of vegetable protein and essential nutrients for poultry, and animal protein is easily obtained in earthworms. Only one or two species of earthworms may carry poultry parasites. They can be avoided. Water is almost more important than feed. From their peculiar structure, poultry suffer more readily from lack of water than from lack of feed. Light is essential especially in the fall and winter. High producing stock needs extra light and extra feeding time to produce well. Concerning earth, there are virtues in good earth and contentment for the birds in a dust bath, and in good poultry management it is a maxim that growing stock should be obliged to range for part of its ration.

There are approximately 2,700 pilots in the Royal Air Force of Great Britain.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

HAPPINESS

What happiness is, the Bible alone shows clearly and certainly, and points out the way that leads to the attainment of it—Coleridge.

Happiness is neither within us only, or without us; it is the union of ourselves with God—Pascal.

The strength and the happiness of a man consists in finding out the way in which God is going, and going in that way, too—H. W. Beecher.

When mortal man blends his thoughts of existence with the spiritual and works only as God works, he will no longer grope in the dark and cling to earth because he has not tasted heaven—Mary Baker Eddy.

Happiness in this world, when it comes, comes incidentally. Make it the object of pursuit, and it leads us a wild-goose chase, and is never attained—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

As we are now living in an eternity, the time to be happy is today.—Grenville Kleiser.

MONEY TO SPEND

Taxi companies are doing a thriving business—thanks to Indians at Montreal Lake, 90 miles west of Prince Albert. Taxi operators report as many as 11 trips a day are made to the village to pick up Indians who want to enjoy a spending spree. The trip costs $30. Last winter's record, one of the richest on file, is believed to be the source of the Indians' money.

Will Never Grow Up

Doctors Say Life Of Child Bonni Victim Has Stopped

LONDON.—At seven years of age Patricia Coulton looks no older than 15 months, with bright eyes and rosy cheeks. She never smiles or plays with other children.

Her mind and body ceased to grow after her home was hit by a land mine in 1940 and she was buried under rubble for five hours.

"She has never smiled since that day," Patricia's mother said. "Sometimes she makes little noises as though she wants to speak, but doctors tell me she never will. They say she is incurable."

Patricia never notices anyone around her. Doctors say her life has stopped and she can never grow up.

Some authorities believe that nearly everybody in America will be nearly sighted a few centuries hence.

FORTUNE IN CROWN JEWELS LOCATED IN A LOCKER IN CHICAGO RAILWAY STATION

WASHINGTON. — A dime-in-the-slot railway station locker gave up a fortune in Hessian crown jewels the United States army revealed last Saturday as it wrote a new mystery thriller chapter in the tale of the gems of Kronberg castle.

The army found to jail Col. Jack Durant, from whom it said it got the locker key that unearthed the greater part of the $1,500,000 loot, and his women's army corps captain bride.

The jewels—the army said "practically all" of the gems now have been found—were put on display at the Pentagon army headquarters.

The diamonds, emeralds and other stones had lain in a plain cardboard box in a locker in the Illinois Central station in Chicago as authorities gave lie detector tests to the colonel and his wife shortly after their capture.

A bible once owned and inscribed by Britain's late Queen Victoria was included, along with whole handfuls of diamonds, rubies and other jewels in the recovered loot.

In addition to the Victoria bible there were bound volumes of letters by the queen dating from 1891 to 1893, a red plush autograph book dating back to 1603 with inscriptions in several languages and small hand paintings, three gold table services and several miniatures.

The story opens back in 1944 when Allied air raids became so heavy that members of the royal house of Hesse decided to bury their jewels and treasures in the old family castle at Kronberg, near Frankfurt-on-Main.

In April, 1945, the royal family fled the castle, for the rampaging 3rd army of Gen. George S. Patton was sweeping down on Frankfurt.

Col. Miller related that when United States troops took over the castle, a systematic search netted discovery of the jewel casket.

By this time, Col. Miller said, the castle had been made an officer's rest home, and the W.A.C. captain was serving as its manager. The casket was turned over to her as the officer in charge of the castle. She made no report of the jewels.

MISS WILLISHER RECALLED TO THE WITNESS STAND TO TESTIFY IN THE SPY TRIAL

MONTREAL. — Kathleen Willsher, quiet-speaking former stenographer at the United Kingdom high commissioner's office in Ottawa, testified at the conspiracy trial of Fred Rose that she had given the Montreal member of parliament information she gained from documents at her work.

"It would not necessarily be very confidential," she added, and she "supposed" Rose knew she was getting the information from the documents.

Miss Willsher, sentenced last month to three years in prison after conviction on a charge of contravening the Official Secrets act, was recalled to the witness box to testify against the Labor-Progressive member for Montreal-Cartier, after defence objection of her testimony was dismissed.

Rose, Polish-born M.P. whose case is the highlight of a series of trials of a number of persons allegedly implicated in a Soviet espionage ring, is charged with conspiring to communicate information to Russia.

Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lacombe, presiding over the king's bench court, dismissed objection by defence counsel to testimony describing conversations since 1936 between Rose and Miss Willsher.

DIES IN RUSSIA

Colonel Nicolai Zabotin Was Former Military Attache At Ottawa

OTTAWA.—The morning Journal in a newspaper story said word had reached "intelligence services" here, of the death in Russia of Col. Nicolai Zabotin, former military attache at the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, four days after his return from the Canadian Capital.

Col. Zabotin was named by Igor Gouzenko, former Russian embassy cipher clerk and star witness in the current espionage trials as mastermind of an alleged spy network in Canada.

The Journal said he had "died from heart failure four days after reaching Moscow from Ottawa, according to word reaching intelligence services here."

At Moscow it was announced last Feb. 20 that Col. Zabotin was being recalled because of the "inadmissibility of the activities" of some members of his staff.

TO BE REPUBLIC

Italy Ended Reign Of King Humbert By Large Majority

ROME.—An official announcement said that Italy has voted to become a republic, throwing King Humbert II and the house of Savoy out of power. The ministers of war and aviation announced jointly that the national referendum had given the republic a majority over the monarchy. They said the votes remaining to be counted could not change the decision.

The majority for the republic was about 1,800,000 votes.

Vice Premier Pietro Nenni announced that the cabinet met to "plan the King's departure."

The nation's rejection of the monarchy ended the reign of King Humbert just 26 days after he formally mounted the throne. He succeeded his father, King Victor Emmanuel, who abdicated and went into a life of voluntary exile in Egypt.

YUGOSLAV ARMY

Has Been Disbanded In British Occupied Zone

WUPPERTAL, Germany.—British military quarters disclosed that the military authorities had broken up a semi-secret royal Yugoslav army which had been drilling, and in some cases, arming itself in the British occupation zone.

The authorities have ordered the army to be disbanded, its soldiers stripped of their uniforms and its general and officers segregated from the men.

The army was beginning to form a hard core of resistance to any official plans to repatriate Yugoslavs and British intelligence men found evidence of considerable gun-running by its members.

Authoritative Annual Gives Report On Needs Of British Navy

LONDON.—The new edition of the authoritative annual "Jane's Fighting Ships" said Britain has only 10 serviceable battleships, of which only half are fit for full service in the fleet.

The admiralty said the five now in full service are the King George V, The Duke of York, Anson, Howe and Vanguard.

The 46th edition of the annual said the Queen Elizabeth, Valiant, Nelson and Rodney "are too slow and the Renown is too lightly armored for modern requirements."

"A considerable percentage of aircraft carrier building has been cancelled," said the annual, "and the need for more carriers cannot be too highly stressed."

Battleships mounted with guns that fire atomic shells and armed with atomic torpedoes were seen by Jane's as possible answers to those who doubt the future usefulness of surface ships with the advent of atomic weapons.

NOT CALLED OFF

WASHINGTON. — Just for the record, there were two railroad strikes instead of one. On July 1, 1922, thousands of railroad shovemen quit their jobs. They stayed out a long time, then began to drift back to the shops. But, says the Association of American Railroads, they never got around to calling off the strike. Officially, it still is on.

NUERNBERG.—Confiscated records of the Krupp dynasty laid bare the secret origin of German rearmament in the supposedly beaten and bankrupt Weimar republic barely a year after the Treaty of Versailles was signed and 15 years before Hitler came to power.

The documents provide evidence that a hush-hush $48,000,000 loan was made available to Krupp's in 1924 by a reich chancellor.

In 1940, when Germany had beaten France and was poised to invade England, the ex-chancellor wrote proudly from exile in Switzerland to the old gun-maker, Gustav Krupp von Bohlen and Halbach.

The letter, signed "Joseph Wirth", is regarded by Allied investigators as an example of the hidden partnership of industrial magnates and presumably democratic politicians to restore German military might.

"Most honored her president," the letter began, "... I look with satisfaction to the years 1920-23 when we both... laid the new foundations for the development of armament technique with the help of your great and most important firm."

"I am putting down these lines in order to make a record in my files, in which there is already the letter of Dr. Westfald of 1921 which sets forth that through my initiative as reich chancellor and finance minister, your highly esteemed firm was secured for 10 years by putting at its disposal considerable means of the reich for maintenance of armament technique in the reich's service."

"I am repeating this fact purely personally and confidentially..."

Attached to Wirth's letter was a confidential memorandum expected to figure prominently in any Allied trial of German industrialists, by one of Krupp's staff.

The memorandum stated that Wirth put $48,000,000 worth of marks at Krupp's disposal at Mendelssohn and company, Berlin, from which the money was transferred to an account carried under the name "Custodian" in Amsterdam.

Because of senile softening of the brain, Gustav Krupp von Bohlen and Halbach was excluded from the present Nuernberg war crimes trial. His son, Alfried, may be included as a defendant if industrialists are put on trial as a class.

Claims Britain Has A Monopoly On Greek Trade

ROME.—Britain has prepared for the Greek government's signature an agreement forming a "commercial corporation" which in effect gives Britain a virtual monopoly over Greek import and export trade, reliable sources said.

It was understood by informed quarters here that the agreement draft has met such opposition from Greek and American quarters that it apparently will be withdrawn and revised drastically.

A copy of the proposed charter for the "commercial corporation" of Greece, brought from Athens by an American official, disclosed that the corporation would be under joint Greek-British control. It would conduct and finance Greek import and export operations in food, raw materials and commodities.

A high-ranking American official now in Athens stated in written comments on the proposed law that it could, in effect, channel any Greek imports through England.

"If England says Greece cannot buy such and such a product through a third party, and that instead Greece must buy through or from England, the Greek importer must conform," the American official commented.

"The same applies to exports. The corporation can force exporters to sell to English companies such things as tobacco and currants (two of Greece's chief products) at low prices and the English can resell at higher prices."

"In short, it is economic strangulation for Greece. It is against the principle of free trade. U.S. importers and exporters as well as those of other countries are completely left out. It's a British monopoly."

"Raisin' The Devil" is an uproariously unbelievable evangelical farce, written by Robert Gard, author of the well known book about Alberta, "Johnny Chinook." It was the best of the three plays. Alta Mitchell as "Jenny Millar" is to be commended for her splendid acting entailing such synchronization of body movement and voice control. Laurie Levine as "King Millar" had a difficult role of drunken father, humorist and repentant sinner which he handled very well.

The director is to be commended on finding so many playing levels for his actors and for establishing such a constant flow of movement and expression from all the actors during the entire performance.

Workers Needed Immediately For Rodeo

A Serious Shortage of Workers Resulting In Field Work Getting Behind Schedule.

Unless more volunteer workers decide to lend a helping hand at the sports field where work is being done in building chutes, digging post holes, building fences, etc., it is questionable whether or not the work will be finished in time for the rodeo scheduled for Saturday, August 3.

Chairman L. S. Richards is taking a serious view of the situation. Once again it is just three or four men who are carrying the entire load on their shoulders. The job is too big for a few men, it requires a miniature army in order that the work committee can finish its job in a proper manner.

Time and again promises have been made both by individuals and organizations that they would be present on certain days. A work schedule has been drafted on these occasions only to have no one appear. The lone exception has been the Lions club who put in a good nights work. It is most discouraging to the committee and they now appeal to the entire membership of the board of trade to get busy and get a work crew up to the field each evening.

Tools are always available and there is always a supervisor on hand from 6 o'clock each evening till dark.

If you want to make the rodeo an outstanding success now is the time to roll up your sleeves and get to work.

"WHEN IN ROME, DO AS THE ROMANS DO"

Sgt. Mudman, RCMP at Blairmore detachment, had the title of this little item forcibly brought to his attention the other week.

Coleman had just put into force its parallel parking law. Despite the fact that the sergeant had read all about the new law coming into effect in The Journal it escaped his memory when he brought Mrs. Mudman to the theatre here one evening. When he came out of the theatre and stepped into his car he was confronted with a "sticker" to abide by the law and park parallel. He will be good in the future.

BICYCLE FOUND

About a month ago Miss Freda Spievak had her brand new bicycle stolen from the front of her sister's home, Mrs. Mike Beraska, on Blairmore Road. A widespread search failed to locate the machine and the theft was reported to the police.

On Sunday last the machine was found in some woods between Coleman and Blairmore and taken to the RCMP who in turn returned it to Miss Spievak. The guilty party is still unknown.

TO WIDEN NO. 3 HIGHWAY AT EASTERN APPROACH TO TOWN

The provincial Public Works Department has machinery at work widening No. 3 highway at the eastern approach to town.

Coleman has agitated over a period of years that a sidewalk should be laid along side the road to provide for pedestrian travel and thus decrease possible accidents. The increased width will allow pedestrians to walk safely along the south side and eliminate any excuse for walking on the hard-surfaced portion of the highway which is possibly one of the busiest sections of the highway in the Pass.

THEATRE NOTES

"GEORGE WHITE'S SCANDALS" AT PALACE SATURDAY

The lavish musical, "George White's Scandals," stars Joan Davis and Jack Haley in a zany romance which goes on the rocks when Haley is dominated by his austere spinster sister.

Melody is furnished by Gene Krupa and his band, the nation's Number One drummer displaying his amazing virtuosity on the drums. Furthermore, the little man proves himself to be no slouch as an actor.

Beauty there is in abundance. George White rounded up the cream of Hollywood's pulchritude resource; for a lavish ensemble. In the featured cast are Phillip Terry, Martha Holliday, Glenn Tryon, Margaret Hamilton, Bettie Jane Greer, and famed electric organist, Ethel Smith. Felix Feist directed.

"A Thousand and One Nights" Charms With Splendor

If it's splendor you want, or comedy-romance, or swashbuckling swordplay, or beautiful girls, or tuneful melodies, or—this could go on forever with everything movie audiences crave—then your current task of finding enjoyment is a simple one. Go to Cole's theatre Saturday, where Columbia Pictures is presenting its Technicolor fantasy of old Baghdad, "A Thousand and One Nights," featuring Cornel Wilde, Evelyn Keyes, Phil Silvers and Adele Jergens. There you will see and hear them all.

It's the hilarious, colorful and glamorous story of Aladdin and his wonderful vamp, the Genie with the light brown hair. The legends of the East hold many amazing tales of miracles and romance... but none more enthralling than this magical tale of a vagabond street singer and the Sultan's daughter.

Tiny Hummingbird

Is Said To Be A Most Vicious Fighter

Not the eagle nor the hawk, but the hummingbird is the most vicious of all the feathered folk.

This mite of a bird, weighing less than an ounce, is the most destructive to members of its own species, according to August P. Abendroth, superintendent of birds at the St. Louis zoo.

Hummingbirds engage each other in death battles over supremacy at feeding grounds, Abendroth explained. They don't quit until one of them is killed.

They are amazing creatures, noted for their speed in flight, which averages 250 miles per hour. Six hundred wing beats a minute—10 per second—make them a hazy blur in the air.

The tremendous amount of energy burned in flight makes it necessary for the bird to eat four times its weight in food daily. They feed almost every five minutes and an hour without food finds them weakened almost to the point of collapse.

Abendroth pointed out that the wild hummingbirds feed on the nectar of certain plants. They guard the areas where these plants are located with protective fierceness. In captivity, where there is plenty of food for every bird, the instinct to maintain "spheres of influence" remains.

A pitched battle between two hummingbirds is like a fencing duel in the air. Chief weapon is the sharp, needle-like beak and the main defence is swift manoeuvrability. Principal target is the heart, for one quick blow is usually fatal. They swoop and zoom on each other for hours until one is knocked from the air.

Average normal life span for a hummingbird is a year and a half. In captivity not more than three are confined to one cage.

There are more than 100 known species of hummingbirds, and their rapid rate of expiration makes the demand for them great, Abendroth said. Zoon-pay from $20 to $30 each for a bird, and dealers can sell all they can supply.

War Orphans

To Build A Village In Switzerland For Children

Foundations of a village to shelter 350 orphans from various devastated European countries were laid recently on an 11-acre tract near Trogen, in the mountainous eastern part of Switzerland.

The first 15 dwellings will be built in Swiss farm style, surrounded by orchards and pastures. Three to five houses will be grouped to form a community where the children will be instructed by Swiss and foreign teachers.

The children's village was named Pestalozzi, after the famous Swiss educator who died in 1827.

PENSIONERS LIVE LONGER

The average age at which female pensioners died in 1928 was 78.55, in 1936 79.49 and in 1944 80.16.—Vancouver News-Herald.

Human Rights

Recommend That The Principle Be Adopted By United Nations

Acceptance of the "general principle" that provisions for basic human rights be included in international treaties—"particularly peace treaties"—without waiting for an international bill of rights to be written has been recommended to the United Nations economic and social council by its nuclear commission on human rights.

The drafting "as soon as possible" of an international bill of rights and its circulation among the governments of the United Nations for comment was urged by the commission. It also asked permission to point out officially to the council "cases where violation of human rights committed in one country may, by its gravity, its frequency or its systematic nature constitute a threat to the peace."

The 8,000-word report, one of nine submitted to the council established by the United Nations to promote world welfare, carried a notation in reference to the latter request that Alexander Borovoy, the Russian representative, abstained from voting on that point on the grounds he "had not yet been able to study sufficiently the records of the meetings of the commission and the various documents." Mr. Borovoy participated only in the later stages of the commission's work and his abstention was one of several by the Russian noted in the report.

Canada's interest in the question, Health Minister (Laxton) told the Canadian Press, merely is that of a "possible recipient" of such refugees which the western powers, in opposition to Russia, insist must not be compelled to return to their homes against their wishes. And Canada would not be interested until the 7,000 Canadian troops remaining abroad had been brought home. Canada otherwise, the minister added, is interested chiefly in fiscal and unemployment questions.

Believe It Or Not

Soil Scientist Gives Interesting Facts About Why We Call Dew Victor H. Ries, in the Country Gentleman, says: Contrary to popular belief it is not just the moisture from the air that has condensed on the grass and other foliage. Much of it is the excess water taken in by the roots. Since the breathing pores or stomata of the leaves are usually closed at night the water is forced out through the edges.

Hard to believe? They consider these statements by a soil scientist. The loss of moisture by evaporation from the surface of the soil is negligible. And to think of all the energy we have wasted working up dust mulches! The roots of plants need air for they breathe just as both plant leaves and we do. That's why I am always talking about spading in organic matter to aerate the soil. You get root growth all the time supposed to bring water from the water table up to the plants can actually raise it but two or three inches in any appreciable amount.

IN SEVENTH PLACE

Britain's best customer in the first quarter of 1946 was South Africa, figures published by the Board of Trade Journal figures showed. India was second, Australia third, France fourth, Erie fifth, the United States sixth and Canada seventh.

The first steamship to venture to sea without sails or auxiliary power was the Meteor, built in 1892.

Coat Of Arms

Viscount Alexander Had To Use A Blank Seal

Not that anybody would notice it, but the formidable array of documents needed to effect a royal assent for a dozen bills in the Senate Chamber lacked the finish they will have in a few weeks.

Only the black-gowned clerks and stiffly-erect aides knew that the Governor's seal on the Royal warrant was a makeshift affair. In fact it was an ordinary barrister's stamp with the impression left on the document merely two blank rings.

The Governor's private seal is needed on the Royal warrant used to appoint the Chief Justice as the Acting Governor to give the Royal assent to bills passed by Parliament.

But Viscount Alexander is a new peer and his coat of arms has not been settled by the College of Heralds in Britain. So he had to use the blank seal of a barrister to make formal the proceedings in the Senate Chamber.

After his Arms are approved they will be imprinted on a special seal by the Royal Mint, here, and will be used thenceforth on all such occasions. There is no indication as to the design the Heralds will subscribe for Lord Alexander.

REG'LAR FELLERS—The Right Viewpoint

PASTEURIZATION CRITICISM

A correspondent of the Huntingdon (Que.) Gleaner who signs himself "Farmer Dairyman" takes exception to a Health League of Canada statement that anti-pasteurization arguments are not sound.

"It is in a sense amusing to me how folks who never made a living on a farm or never had the care of dairy cows, attempt to give such commanding comments to dairy farmers," writes the Gleaner correspondent.

In reply to this, the Health League wishes to point out neither farm nor dairy knowledge is required for one to know that milk is an excellent culture medium for harmful bacteria and a means for the transmission of these bacteria and communicable disease to humans. No special agricultural education is necessary for one to know that pasteurization, while it does not harm to milk's nutritive value, does kill bacteria which can transmit communicable disease to humans. There can be no arguments against facts.

A further statement of "Farmer Dairyman" that "pasteurized milk does not raise calves equal to whole milk" taken care of by researches by qualified authorities. In an address some years ago, Dr. Gordon Bates, General Director of the Health League, said that one record appearing in the Journal of Hygiene revealed that so far as there was any difference in the calves tested it was in favor of those fed on pasteurized milk.

"In this instance two groups of calves were fed on two groups of milk—tuberculin-tested cows," said Dr. Bates. "In another experiment conducted at one of the scientific institutions where raw milk and the same supply commercially pasteurized was used to feed two groups of calves, the results were still more striking. Again, the balance was in favor of the pasteurized group, while seven of the calves fed on raw milk were infected with tuberculosis, from which those fed on pasteurized milk were free."

"A similar experiment was undertaken with two groups of swine at the Agricultural College in Guelph several years ago. It was found that swine thrived just as well on pasteurized milk as on raw milk but that a number of those fed on raw milk contracted tuberculosis and died."

STOP SIGN NEEDED

During the spelling lesson the teacher asked one youngster to spell "banana."

"B-a—" began the lad slowly. Then he went on, more briskly "N-a-n-a-n-a-n-a."

"Don't you know how to spell it, Jimmy?" asked the teacher.

"Yes, miss," was the reply, "but I don't know when to stop."

HORNEO CATTLE

Percentage Is Increasing In The Four Western Provinces

All good cattlemen know that horns on commercial cattle are not only a source of damage and loss in the handling and shipping of such cattle, but are an actual danger to the handlers.

The agricultural press have illustrations showing the terrible losses to beef and hog carcasses caused by goring. The employees at every terminal market and packing plant know the mess that can be made by one or two horned cattle shipped loose in a car with other livestock. Many carefully conducted experiments have demonstrated that dehorned cattle fight less, feed together better and gain more than horned cattle. That the rancher, whose main cash crop is cattle, has realized this is evidenced by the fact that on most of the larger ranches of British Columbia, Alberta and Western Saskatchewan dehorning is a standard practice. Yet, as the accompanying figures show, the percentage of horned cattle is increasing in each of the four Western Provinces. Accurate figures for the Eastern Provinces are not available, but there is no reason to doubt that a similar situation exists there.

With dehorning a standard ranch practice, it must be assumed that the increase in horned cattle is coming mainly from the smaller, farm cattle producer. Scarcity of farm labor, scarcity of dehorning and to some extent caustic potash; the fact that many farm operators, lacking a proper dehorning chute, did not feel physically able to wrestle with cattle may have had considerable bearing on the increase in horns.

However, these conditions and scarcities are gradually being corrected. Dehorning are again available—in the West almost every Agricultural Representative's office has one or more pairs which may be borrowed—dehorning irons, to be heated and used like a branding iron on larger calves are now available. Caustic potash is again in supply. The boys are slowly coming back to the farm.

For the farmer dehorning does not represent the same problem as on the ranch. A stick of caustic potash, carried in a small bottle, will do the job easily and painlessly if applied to the nub horns of the calf.

Fancy Horseshoes

Ohio Man Has A Very Fine Collection

If a horseshoe brings luck, Dr. Robert Blair of Lebanon, Ohio, should have more than his share of good fortune.

He is the possessor of 122 of the fanciest, most expertly made horseshoes in the world.

Fashioned of polished steel for race and show horses, the shoes are the handwork of the late Daniel Harmon Greenhouse, considered by some authorities as the greatest smith of all time.

Greenhouse challenged smiths the world over to duplicate the quality of the shoes in the collection but no one ever accepted the invitation.

MISSSES HUBBY BY TWO DAYS

Arriving in New York with 292 war brides of U.S. servicemen, Mrs. Lloyd Luder, 23-year-old Polish dancer, missed her husband by two days. He had been ordered to Camp Beale, Calif. for his discharge. Mrs. Luder, who was held in a German concentration camp for a year, was met by an aunt when the liner Brier docked.

The Chinese Way

Many Customs Regarding Marriage Seem Odd To Western World

Bishop Romanelli of Kwelin tells of a Chinese marriage at which he officiated. The girl was very bashful, missed her husband by two days. He had been ordered to Camp Beale, Calif. for his discharge. Mrs. Luder, who was held in a German concentration camp for a year, was met by an aunt when the liner Brier docked.

As the bishop formulated the question for the third time, the bride's mother stepped up, grabbed her by the braid and pushed the girl's head up and down in acquiescence. That settled it.

Hunan Province is noted for its beautiful women. Also, for a rather pointed way of proposing marriage. The farm boy sends the lass of his choice a needle. If she sends the needle back threaded—it means "Yes."

Would you marry someone you had never met? For centuries the Chinese have been doing it. Today, changing habits notwithstanding, they're still doing it in many parts of China. In old-time Chinese families, the bride and groom do not meet until the very night of the wedding. Marriage, they say, is something like a pot of water. It may be cold to start with... but put it on a hot stove and the fire will warm it up. But start with boiling water, and likely as not it will eventually cool off.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

UNTO THE HILLS

"A YOUNG man hitch-hiking, sir," "Well, pick him up, Roberts," returned the old gentleman in the rear seat. The powerful automobile, answering the chauffeur's touch, slowed to a stop beside the youth at the edge of the road.

"No, not up there," exclaimed the man in the rear as the hitch-hiker wearing a disreputable yachting cap, grasped the front door's handle. "Come, sit back here with me."

The youth grinned, the ends of his wide mouth curving into tanned healthy cheeks, and climbed in beside the elderly man.

"Going far?" asked the owner of the vehicle as they swung once more into the stream of highway traffic. "To Broadhill, sir," replied the young man.

"My but you've got a long trip ahead of you."

"Long, but enjoyable," he said. "I love this stretch of country."

"Yes, it is beautiful district," said the old man slowly, staring very hard through the window of the car.

"I drive this way often."

For a while he remained silent, staring, it seemed, at the fleeting scene through the window. He might have been trying to fix it all in his mind, fearful lest the view escape him. At length he turned and spoke. "Everything must be in its full summer growth," he said.

The highway rose and fell as it ribboned its way along the river bank. A transient breeze carried the hot summer smells through the open windows and the old man breathed them in as though inhaling the smoke from an expensive cigar.

"Just look at those cliffs," exclaimed the youth as the car turned with the highway to present a bold rockface view across the river. The old man turned but the youth failed to notice that he did not look in the direction he had indicated.

"This morning," he continued, "I watched a thunder shower rise from those hills. You could see it coming for miles—He paused, embarrassed at what he had said.

"Don't stop," said the old man. "Please, I'd like to hear about it." Then, allusion to himself, he mused, "I haven't seen a storm in these hills for a good many years."

The youth flushed, but he smiled at the old man's encouragement and went on. "At first," he said, "there was just a faint haze over the hills. Then it seemed to grow, and a mist crept down the hillsides as though spilling over from the other side."

The old man started straight ahead but a faint smile lit his face. An outsider might have thought the old man saw things that others couldn't. But the young man went on in his own world.

"The hills turned to purple as the sunshine fled from them, and the clouds oozed up over their tops. Then a wall of mist rolled down through the valleys, hiding them from view, and I knew it was raining."

The young man was lost in his description. He scarcely knew there was any one beside him.

"The purple of the hills faded into gray as the clouds crept down over them. The mist rolled on and I could see the water drenching as the shower reached the river. Then in a moment the rain had reached me and I ran for shelter."

There were tears in the old man's eyes, but he was smiling. The youth stopped as he turned to him, confused by the show of emotion. "You make it all very clear," said the old man, frowning with a large handkerchief.

"You must forgive me for acting so foolishly but it has been a long time since I have seen the rain in the hills."

The rest of the trip was spent in silence. No one spoke until the chauffeur flung over his shoulder, "This is where we turn off."

THE house was aloof from others of its kind. Isolated and proud, it stood on a hilltop commanding the view across the river. An automobile turned in at the gate and crunched along the gravel driveway.

"Roberts," said the old man as he felt the sidewalk beneath his feet, "I have never seen the hills so clearly as when that young man described his storm today."

"He was enthusiastic about our part of the country, sir," replied the chauffeur.

The old man reached for the white cane Roberts held for him, and tapped his way to the house.

Muskrat Farming

285,000 Pelts Marketed in Winnipeg Brought Good Price

Highest prices for muskrat fur since the Dominion and Manitoba governments went into muskrat farming in a big way 10 years ago were received recently in Winnipeg when 285,000 pelts brought an average price of $3.75, the mines and resources department reported. Some pelts brought as high as 5.65.

The bulk of these furs, 223,000 pelts, came from the big Summerberry area in Manitoba which stretches from just east of the Pas along the Saskatchewan River to Moose Lake. The balance came from the areas in Netley marsh, Fisher River and the Delta at the south end of Lake Winnipeg.

In Far North

Three Doctors Are Wanted For Arctic Posts

Hon. B. Claxton, Health Minister, issued a call for three doctors to do pioneering work in Canada's Eastern Arctic.

Two doctors are urgently needed to head hospitals at Chesterfield on Hudson Bay, and at Pangnirtung on Baffin Island. A third doctor is needed from July 15 to Oct. 15 to serve in settlements along Hudson Strait.

The hospitals at Chesterfield and Pangnirtung are well-equipped institutions, each with a staff of two nurses.

The Empire State Building in New York has seven miles of elevator shafts.

Canada's History

Mission Will Collect Information Valuable For Public Archives

Two Canadian archivists, Robert Larocque de Rouen and Victor Bieque, will sail for Paris to resume the work of documenting Canada's history under French tenure which was interrupted by the war.

Four Canadians were working on the project at the outbreak of war in a permanent Paris office set up by the Dominion Public Archives in 1904. They slipped away in time to elude the German invaders. The aim of the mission is to collect all types of historical information which might be of value to Canadian historians and to have it available in the public archives at Ottawa.

SMILE AWHILE

"Are you the man that was married in a cage of lions?"
"I'm the man."
"Did it seem exciting?"
"It did then. It wouldn't now."

"What makes people go abroad to study singing?" asks the correspondent. In some cases the law of self-preservation.

"I must have reminded him of some beautiful woman in history. He said I had a historical face."

"Are you sure he didn't say pre-historic, my dear?"

Wife: "I'm ready now, I thought you were dressed and waiting?"
Husband: "So I was, but you'll have to wait while I shave again!"

The clothes my tailor makes last for years. Look at that blue serge suit of mine. There's an example.

"Yes, a shining example."

Did you ever make your living writing poetry?"
"No, but I got lost in the woods once and didn't eat for a week."

Husband: "What extravagance! you have two hats to match that one dress!"
Wife: "Oh, no I haven't. I've only one dress to match the two hats."

Father: Your teacher says he can't teach you anything, Bill.
Bill: I always knew he was no good.

Cyril: "You may spurn me, but remember I shall not always be a clerk at $20 a week!"
Marie: "That's just the trouble. You may lose your job at any time."

"You do keep your car well cleaned."
"It's only fair, my car keeps me well cleaned, too."

"Light from the sun travels 186,000 miles a second. Isn't that a stupendous speed?"
"Oh, I don't know. It's down-hill all the way."

Foreman: "Don't you see that sign, No hands wanted?"
Applicant: "I do, but I promised my wife I'd really ask for a job today, and that's why I applied."

REAL EDUCATION

Education is a system of training or experience which enables one to compare, estimate, balance and form a sound judgment. All of which takes time—most of it after graduation. Books and texts and schools lay the foundation but it is life and experience—and one's ability to learn from experience—that determines whether the student is capable of true education.—London Free Press.

FOR VETERANS

Those Who Served in First Great War To Receive Assistance

Some of the men who left Canada to serve with British or Allied forces in the First Great War got a helping hand from the veterans committee of the commons — three decades after their enlistment.

The committee approved a recommendation of the pension commission that such veterans who held rank lower than that of warrant officer and are entitled to pension get the full benefit of the Canadian Pension act. The essential qualifications are that they must have lived in Canada before enlisting and that they have returned here.

Their counterparts of the Second Great War already have such protection. Their comrades of higher than warrant officer rank have long had similar protection through an administrative arrangement with Britain.

Weed Killing

United Kingdom Has Built World's Biggest Corn Sprayer

Weed-killing corn sprayers which cope dully with more than one hundred acres of crops are now in use on United Kingdom farms. The new machine, the largest of its type ever built, has a five hundred gallon tank fitted with two openings. These allow the operator to pour in chemicals while the tank is being filled with water. The spray liquid is pumped to spray bars at a pressure of three hundred pounds per square inch, and fifty gallons per minute can be used. The most spectacular feature is the sixty foot wide spray boom with eighty-six nozzles. It is this which gives the machine its tremendous output. The acreage sprayed per day varies with the size of the fields, the distance of fields and farms apart, etc. The record so far for one day's spraying is one hundred and thirty-six acres.

Patterns To Holland

Weekly Newspapers Appear To Cover A Lot Of Territory

A weekly publisher never knows just what audience he is reaching with his paper. After being read by the subscriber and his family, it is many times passed around to others or mailed away to a married son or daughter in other towns or cities, and has a long life indeed.

As a matter of fact we have in front of us as we write, a letter ordering Pattern No. 4811 for a Pin-frock from Miss A—E—, c/o Roemer Vliesser St., No. 46, Amsterdam West, Holland.

There is no indication whatever of how she got the paper containing this pattern, but the order has been filled. In the same way we are constantly amazed at the orders which continue to come each week for the Home Service Booklets, for which advertising was discontinued in 1943 on account of paper shortage and increasing costs.

All this shows a real reader interest in this paper which we much appreciate and hope to continue developing.

RECIPES

FOOD ESSENTIALS AND ECONOMY

A full market basket doesn't necessarily mean a well-fed family. It's getting the right food in the right proportions that counts.

What are the essential foods? Briefly, they include milk, butter, eggs, meat, fish or poultry, fruit, especially the citrus varieties; vegetables of all kinds, raw and cooked; and last but not least, cereals, especially those made from whole grain, such as all wheat flakes.

Use crisp cereals often to extend meats in loaves or patties. Here is a simple recipe for meat patties or "hamburgers" which stretches the number of servings by two. Out-of-doors "bugers" roasts are just around the corner from May. The demand for hamburger and ground steak increases. You will find this meat-stretching hint of value:

Hamburg Patties

2 cups corn flakes
1 pound hamburger (or other ground beef)
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Crush corn flakes slightly. Combine with other ingredients and mix well. Form into patties. Fry or broil, cooking 7-10 minutes on each side or until well browned. Yield: 6 patties about 2 1/2 inches in diameter, 1/2 inch thick.

Note: Add chopped onion or other seasoning, as desired.

Crows And Magpies

Have Become A Menace To Migrating Birds In Alberta

Crows and magpies have become so numerous in Alberta that they constitute a menace to migratory and upland birds in the province. So much so, that the Alberta Government has begun expedient leg encouragement the killing of predatory birds, including crows and magpies, by providing for the payment of a bounty of five cents per pair of feet.

At the present time, a summer campaign for the destruction of crows and magpies is being conducted by the Alberta Fish and Game Association which has been empowered to pay the bounty from funds allocated to it by the Alberta Government.

Savings Deposits

Are Highest Ever Held By Chartered Banks Of Canada

After touching a low of $2,865,000, 000 after the Ninth Victory Loan at the end of December, 1945, savings deposits of the chartered banks of Canada have risen by $305,000,000 in two months to an all-time high of $3,170,000,000 at March 31.

This represented an increase of $1,468,000,000, or 86 per cent, over deposits of $1,702,000,000 prior to the war. Total time and demand deposits by the public have now reached a level of $5,155,000,000, or more than double the pre-war volume of $2,407,000,000.
